NCC Pre-Professional Programmes

Giving you that competitive edge...

Our Pre-Professional Programmes are unique and innovative schemes, which you can take alongside your A Level studies.

They are career-focused programmes aimed at helping you to make an informed choice about your future, while encouraging breadth and depth of study and research in your chosen career path.

Studying a Pre-Professional Programme alongside your core Study Programme is designed to give you the edge for university applications, in what are quite often extremely competitive and challenging degree and career pathways.

As part of our Pre-Professional Programme you will receive a range of opportunities alongside your academic studies to help you build additional skills and experiences to make you stand out from the crowd.

This may include:

- Presentations from industry experts and specialist speakers
- Field trips to specialist centres
- Work experience relevant to your chosen profession
- Visits to Oxford, Cambridge and Russell Group universities
- Individual mentoring and coaching
- Support in your university application
- Specialist interview preparation
- Networking with alumni students who are working in the Medical profession
- Opportunities to debate current issues in Medicine
- Understanding admissions tests - BMAT and UKCAT
